DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 23-26 are objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 23 contains the language, "said damping force interacting with the drive force and comprising a contact pressure element transmitting a damping force..." in lines 9-10 of the claim. This language seems to embody the "push" or "pull" experienced by a mass when accelerated (i.e. force = mass times acceleration), into a real, tangible, physical limitation – a contact pressure element. Such a limitation is not appropriate. It appears that Applicant is attempting to limit the "means for generating a damping force," but according to the language of the claim, fails to do so. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,793,646 to Giambattista et al.

Giambattista et al. disclose a device for administering an injectable product having a base 32, drive unit 90 and a means for generating a damping force 122. See Figures 1-9.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2-4, 11 and 14-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
